Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Saturday, March 21, 2009 – 10:00 a.m.

Your heart needs love; only the Divine can quench its thirst. Unlike human beings, the Divine does not change; it cannot disappoint. It is there, present, intangible and sure. Your search, my daughter, will not end. As you already know, it continues from life to life. Your next reincarnation will not disappoint you; it will be dedicated to spirituality, to this sublime energy capable of delighting your heart.

The environment will be favourable and it will facilitate your mission in your future life, but this one is not finished. Do as well as you can, as always, in spite of your sufferings. We alone can understand the true difficulties that these sufferings impose on you, beyond appearances.

Take rest; your dear sons-in-heart will soon be there. May they feel what few humans can perceive: the love which is in you.
