Birthday of Babuji Maharaj

Dearest son,
Years pass by, the Mission is growing and the fervour of many of our brothers and sisters has never flagged. These moments are important in a year; we have already said so, but it is good to insist on this aspect. It is about recognition, about a specific identity of our way, which time cannot and must not spoil. Your example, my dear son, will stand out in our history. Your courage to act and your clear-sightedness provide the necessary impulse to a spiritual path of this scale, the effects of which will increase tenfold over time. It is up to each one of our abhyasis to become aware of the importance, in this distraught world, of a spiritual opportunity of this kind – an opportunity that is for the good of humanity, beyond religious systems and the constraints associated with some of them. Spiritual elevation, far from rites and established dogmas, can take place through the heart, which is something we have continued to emphasise, particularly in the 'Messages'

'They have already touched many of our diligent readers with their simplicity by focusing on the main thing. Happy are those who understand the true meaning of life and of an incarnation here below. Nothing lasts forever; what does remain is only the best, the constructive aspect capable of ennobling a soul in its progress towards a higher reality.

My son, as you know, we are close to you in this difficult journey where you always manage to give your best. We are happy to note it every day, as we are by your side and we are supporting you as well as possible. The day you rejoin us will be a very rare moment of joy and happiness for you. Do not lose heart; all is well. You are a great son of God.

May you receive particular blessings on this special day, during which you remember your Master so well, as always. We shower you with love, literally. You have all our gratitude – you, the Chosen Son. May this birthday be a time of peace for all.
