Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Friday, May 1, 2009 – 10:00 a.m.

All is well, my dear son; this birthday is deeply felt in the hearts. Although they are not yet read in many centres, the messages are taking their due place in the Mission. They permeate people's minds. One day, they will belong to the ritual of meditation, providing the conclusion of the ritual for the good of the abhyasis. Already, these writings favourably influence the way many of them perceive things and behave. In your great wisdom you have made this happen; this fact is noteworthy. Your action on all levels is highly appreciated. All these years of experience, of approaching the human being in his disconcerting complexity, have shaped the man within you and the high-level spiritual Master on whom we can rely in every respect. The task is heavy; such a responsibility cannot be easily assumed on the human level. You will remain the figurehead of this immense ship, whose load cleaves the waves of the seas with brilliance. We thank you, our dear, great and blessed son, for the sense of abnegation with which you devote your life to this noble cause that is so dear to the heart of us all.

You are the Chosen One, dear son, very dear Parthasarathi.
