The Medium: Babuji, today's message brings this collection to a close. Should we continue? Is your thought accurately respected?

Why ask this question? You know the answer: this second collection is interesting, don't you find?

If only one soul is helped by reading it, we should continue.

You play a pivotal role in this matter; you would like to finish because it requires very great effort from you, but isn't your heart happy to meet with mine each day?

The Medium: How could I refuse? Make it possible for me to capture exactly what you want to express. That is my concern, you know it. My current state hinders my perceptions.

Rest reassured, all is well. How could we conclude in a way that is optimistic and would please our dear abhyasis? With encouragement and compliments?

Our remarks do not always please; they do not exclude all the good that we think of you.

Many have remained like children and do not like the remarks we make to force them to realise their weaknesses.

That does not mean that they do not have great qualities, that their work is neglected and their condition unsatisfactory.

Each one of you gets the fruit of your work, transcended by that of the Master.

If the road is difficult, the results are commensurate with it.

Be confident, it is good to observe oneself, to want the best; with courage and faith, success is guaranteed.
