Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Thursday, September 24, 2009 – 10:00 a.m.

Writing under our dictation is equivalent to your heart meditating; this subtle flow comes from ours and takes possession of it [your heart] for the occasion. A special state facilitates an osmosis, fostering this productive contact. We make use of your energy and try to compensate for that. The work achieved in receiving all these messages is phenomenal; your Master is well aware of it. Our spiritual way will remain a [special] case in history, concerning what is being achieved over the years without any ambition other than to serve a grand cause aimed at the victory of the all-powerful Spirit operating on this Earth for the good of humanity. This very 'Mission' will distinguish Sahaj Marg at a pivotal period of human evolution. Time is pressing. We are imposing on the kindness of our scribe, but how much of her time do we still have at our disposal for the occasion and for conveying our remarks? Time here below cannot be measured with precision.

Are we trailblazers in this? The future will tell, as it is the only thing to give humans what they need to advance towards that which is essential in this world. May we play this role with panache.

Blessings to all.
