Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Friday, October 23, 2009 – 10:00 a.m.

Our very dear Parthasarathi,
We follow you step by step and shower you with love; don't you feel it? It is difficult, in such a situation, to grasp all the subtlety of our strategy towards you. This world of maya, of total illusion, disconcerts the most well-informed people and great beings of your stature.

Regain your taste for living and fighting, won't you? Sanctified are the souls moving in your wake and longing to ascend. They accompany you on the shores where there is divine love, transfiguring those who are ready to follow you.

You are 'the divine scout', an elite soul, one of very few of this kind, chosen to accomplish on this Earth what is expected: to serve a great cause beneficial for humanity, from the perspective of the future.

May our love always carry you towards the shores of bliss where our united hearts support you. They will await you until the blessed moment when fusion will unite us before the Eternal.

Receive directly through the heart all the strength of our love for you; may this illuminate it, in its great beauty. We cherish you particularly. May these comments restore your strength and courage.

To you, my very dear son.

Babuji
