Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Friday, December 11, 2009

Your heart literally melts with love for your Master. This love is not strongly featured in the messages, or even here! Some of our readers find this surprising.

What do they know about your heart?

Only your sense of propriety curbs your expression of it; can they understand that? Your Master is incarnate and you belong to the same age group, shall we say! We understand very well, my daughter, this restraint. So many of our aspirants love the living Master like a father, without trying to derive from this attachment any further prospects which are yet necessarily required for their evolution. But that is something they do not want to understand, since they are so obsessed with his incarnate person.

What will they do after him? Will the most dedicated be able put things into perspective and see beyond human reality? We sincerely hope so. Our aspirants must grow and, in some measure, go beyond limitations detrimental to their evolution.

Babuji