Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Friday, June 4, 2010 – 10:00 a.m.

The time has not yet come for a perfect world; we are working towards it. Our Mission contributes to it, within its capabilities. Our brothers and sisters will increasingly realise this and focus their efforts on the power of creative thinking. The latter can do much; it is an action in its own way. Privileged are those who awaken to consciousness and act accordingly. My son has well understood the importance of these messages. They are innovative in their own way, since many still struggle to accept the principle of possibly communicating with the world of the spirit.

Be that as it may, the time has come for humans to understand the need to act for the good, thus thwarting the negative forces that confine them to utmost illusion concerning the truth of the world they live in. Let it all be done according to the divine will.
