Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Sunday, June 6, 2010 – 10:00 a.m.

Do not worry that your name is mentioned with regard to this seminar that is being organised around a theme proposed in a message. Circumstances led in that direction.

My son knows well that you have never tried to push yourself forward. See the positive side of this initiative; it is the first of its kind, in terms of a seminar focusing on a specific topic related to these messages. My son has opened the doors to the world of the Spirit with these messages, and we are happy. They have started a journey whose importance you cannot imagine. Blessed are those who devote themselves to them; they meet our wishes and those of their Master. Our way makes its path in this world and nothing will stop it, despite the inevitable internal turmoil. My son can be happy; he is and will remain a powerful beacon giving it the strength and light capable of propelling it to its zenith.

Blessings to all the sincere hearts who invest themselves in the service of the forces of good.

Babuji