Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Wednesday, June 16, 2010 – 3:00 p.m.

My very dear son,
We beg you – pull yourself together with respect to this unfortunate episode concerning your succession. That is how things had to be: 'Doesn't everything have its raison d'être?' You have failed in nothing. God's ways are unfathomable, and the Greatest Beings in this world have experienced it repeatedly. Please get over this unfortunate incident. It undermines your health; meanwhile you still have much to give. We are at your side, full of admiration and love for you. Regain a lion's strength: that which honours and characterises you. Your birthday will soon be celebrated in this world; a procession of angels will attend it along with all our brothers and sisters, admiring their Master and full of love for you. We too will be there, attentive to your person regenerated and divinised in many aspects. This is how everything had to be. We do insist; move in this direction, under our endless blessings. We literally shower you with love.

Your Master,

Babuji
