Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Tuesday, November 2, 2010 – 10:00 a.m.

What else can we convey, my daughter, apart from the joy of seeing you surrounded by those beings who are so important to you. Today is a blessed day; great servants of the Mission are here and your heart is happy. May each of them realise that these moments are precious; nothing is trivial when it is about divine service.

From one lifetime to the next, all of you meet again; eager to serve, to love, to ensure that life on Earth helps you move towards the ultimate goal. What would an incarnation mean to you if it didn't have this dimension that gives it its true worth, its noblest meaning? May this visit leave its mark in all your hearts. Some stages in this world are critical, and so you are guided, and will be until the end, in the service of our ideals.

Many visits are paid to you, my daughter – these days are truly enlightening. Great Beings appear to you and bless you for your fruitful path in the service of our Mission.

Special blessings to all.

Babuji
