Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Wednesday, December 22, 2010 – 10:00 a.m.

Rejoin us, my daughter, in this high and sacred place where sufferings are alleviated. Here, all is beauty; the soul is soothed, trusting in the divine power. Interiorise yourself ever more and love infinitely. Only these joys are lasting and profound. Taste the immutable peace that is revealed to you in these blessed moments. Your heart needs these songs; they resonate therein and soothe your ills. Isn't it delightful to plunge within oneself in this way? Therefore, love infinitely. You know that only this love beautifies the soul.

You are privileged in this life to have found the path of love. Without all these trials denying you a life of action – a life you had wanted – would you have managed so well? Tests, as you know, are not pointless. They should not embitter a person; when they are accepted, they allow for the soul's elevation – and is this not the supreme reward?

Enjoy and be thankful, my daughter.
