Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Sunday, December 26, 2010 – 10:00 a.m.

My son, this hero of modern times, is expecting a message from his Master. He is fighting bravely, and he is leading this Mission in a masterly fashion. We admire him. As we have already said, his stature will definitely mark this way of Sahaj Marg.

He has yet to take a critical step; he should take his time. Things will become clearer in due course. His choice will be decisive regarding his current worry. The development of the Mission in the world also requires, in different countries, managers who are capable of pursuing the ennoblement of a spiritual principle and who can promote the Mission's expansion and greatness. Future times will give the desired flight to this way of the heart, perfect in its effects. It is up to people of good will to act, serving it with rigour and with the utmost honesty towards their Master and the supreme hierarchy, to which they will have to refer more than ever.

Facts will naturally become clearer, and everything will become obvious to my son. We are preparing that which must happen. Those of our brothers and sisters who do not adhere to the current reality should go their way. They are not trustworthy, and they are straying from the higher will. What must be will be; that is the way it goes, and this will become a reality for the good of our spiritual way. Their Master embodies the supreme hierarchy to which they will be accountable.

More than ever, rigour and honesty in the service of God are imperative. One should ponder this.

We will continue later. Let everyone be attentive to this requirement, under our blessings.
