Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Monday, December 27, 2010 – 10:00 a.m.

Dearest Parthasarathi,

No human being, not even a high level spiritual Master, is immune to joys, sorrows, and trials of all sorts. He too must undergo the pangs of materiality. We monitor your every step; may this comfort help you in your heavy task and the decisions you must make. They are critical, as they concern the ultimate choice, one which will be pivotal for our Mission.

Your having to make this decision again is no easy task; the next decision will be the right one. Be attentive to the people in your entourage; the veil of maya further hides the true nature of certain people. The heart has its weaknesses, its surges of affection for certain people believed to be reliable but who harbour an ego and tendencies that are formidable. This period of reflection and detachment from your entourage is necessary. It will enable you to make the right choice; sometimes, the best is hidden where you did not see it before. Everything will soon be clear to you; think over our comments. Through this channel we will come back to confirm to you the correct decision which you will have made.

May our love and our wishes lift you up to the highest, at the dawn of this new year that is decisive for the future of our Mission.

To you, dearest son, blessed among all,

Babuji
