Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, June 24, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

Yes, my daughter, you can say again and again until your last breath: My God, I love you.

He never disappoints us. He is our only true friend, you have known this for a long time.

Humans are fickle, God is not.

He has his laws that are not to everyone's liking, but they exist only for our good and that of creation.

People's small-minded, narrow reasonings cannot grasp the full significance of this.

All of you who have already taken a big step, you are beginning to see the soundness of certain rules. Whatever happens, be surrendered to the divine will and grateful for having reached this point of evolution where there is ample room for hope.

We will not go any further; rest, meditate, for the moment.

(Later)

You have gained insights that many great scholars do not have.

'In my Father's house there are many abodes.' (the Gospel of John)

There are indeed areas that are inaccessible, even to some highly educated people, to brilliant figures with prominent roles in this world.

God has his own criteria, which are not those of humans.

You are blessed, my daughter, never forget it.
