Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Saturday, January 8, 2011 – 10:00 a.m.

The Medium: O Babuji, at this very moment when you appear, my heart is joyous. It is an indescribable joy, unparalleled here below, as everything changes and vibrates differently. Your light dazzles and reassures me.

You are here, present in your own way and my soul is satisfied beyond expression. These blessed moments cannot be described. They are lived with intensity and endless gratitude.

My dear daughter, for our hearts you are a chosen resting place; it is also good for us to find every day a heart that is fervent and faithful beyond words. You offer freely and without expecting anything in return. Your love is totally unselfish, hence its beauty and strength. Being faithful and steadfast, despite what you have to put up with in your physical body, you keep the innocence, faith and fervour which continue to attract us. Keep this child's heart and this love; it will stand the test of time and will be edifying for more than one living being.

May you be blessed.
