Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Friday, January 14, 2011 – 10:00 a.m.

The source will not dry up; it flows in you, quenching your insatiable heart. Love is its food. It has long understood where the path was, the only one possible in this domain. Heart, soul and mind – together these words recreate the essence of the being. Matter remains as it is, fleeting and transient in this illusory world. Human beings dwell too much on what is unimportant and neglect what is best in themselves.

A spiritual way like ours allows our aspirants to increase their awareness of a higher reality. They advance, and with time they discover a space of peace and harmony within themselves. Then, the real journey begins. The search, beyond rituals, for the absolute bliss is revealed over time; it establishes within hearts that for which they aspire. Blessed are the wise who are engaged in this way of love. They will realise what any sage calls for in the depths of his or her being: mergence with the Ultimate.
