Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

My daughter, pull yourself together and regain serenity. Without it you cannot offer us the best of yourself. Humans are like that; none can avoid excesses. Certain behaviours characterise human nature with its many facets. Not all of our aspirants are saints. They tend towards what is good, perfect, but the road is long for all. Everyone must accept the weaknesses of others without overlooking their own. Our spiritual Mission is no exception. It is flawed, but the best is there, as it facilitates the raising of souls.

Isn't this the goal? It involves many difficulties. Tenacity and a deep faith in the ideal of beauty must help our aspirants overcome their weaknesses in the face of adversity. A way such as ours opens up rewarding prospects for each person, and an opportunity for advancement in this incarnation to a world of peace and love – an absolute necessity for the development of the spiritual being.
