Monday, July 18, 2011 – 10:00 a.m.

My daughter, do you truly realise the progress made with these writings? They are suffusing hearts, and their impact is producing positive results. They inspire some of our brothers and sisters and open doors to an unexpected space. 'Everything has its raison d'être.' This mountain of messages is at work in people's hearts, and from now on this is inevitable.

May time give them a very special place, and may our brothers and sisters refer to them naturally. Nothing is inconsequential when it is inspired by the higher powers. There are still some beautiful pages to write, although most of it is done.

Blessings to all.

[Later]

You should enter into silence and let your heart be replete with love – it lives only on that. Forget the turmoil, 'these outrageous remarks', and see only the beauty inside and around you. The divine splendour is there, eternal and immutable. You should call this sublime energy constantly; it alone can truly fulfil you.

Babuji