Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Friday, July 29, 2011 – 10:00 a.m.

A fervent heart knows no limit; it loves infinitely. It craves bliss; it lives on its emotions and offers them to the incarnate deity who represents its spiritual ideal. Our aspirants, for the most part, went through other experiences before joining our way. So it is from one lifetime to the next; beings are refined and look for that which will allow them to advance in order to meet a deep inner call.

There are, in this world, critical milestones in human evolution. Thus, from time immemorial, human beings have chosen a path appropriate to their time and country of incarnation. The times ahead will be crucial for human evolution. One should make no mistake and act according to the aspirations of the soul, instead of complying with ancestral customs that may not be suitable. Everyone should be able to express themselves in their quest for the Divine; it is personal and sanctifying.

May each and every one advance according to their personal choice.
