Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Tuesday, August 2, 2011 – 10:00 a.m.

You are climbing the mountain slowly and yet you are out of breath. Love cannot do everything; you have to deal with the vagaries of life and put up with an ailing physical body. Although you are well cared for, you are often misunderstood; we too experienced similar situations. Time is passing; you are loved and valued by all of us. We also experienced fits of tiredness and despondency in this world. They are inevitable.

We highly value what you are achieving, you can be sure. These messages already are, and will remain, a reference in our Mission. The passage of time has already given them a special place in people's hearts. Blessed are those who appreciate them. They open a space of reflection and calming reassurance in people's hearts, and their effect goes beyond reasoning; they open a gateway to the Infinite. It is up to each one to find through this reading what they can integrate for their spiritual evolution. It helps beyond our Mission and even beyond this world – which may seem exaggerated, and yet you know better than anyone that this is the truth.

Regain serenity and total peace within, and get ready to enter this reserved space where your heart enjoys its fill.

With our unfailing support and our love,

Babuji
