Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Friday, August 12, 2011 – 10:00 a.m.

Yes, my daughter, take delight in the Immutable Peace; you are suffused with it in these blessed moments. This delight befits your soul, which revels and becomes stronger in love. Thus is your path: this profound yearning fostered your move towards our hearts, which are attentive to yours.

Your journey is not ordinary. Every person has their own; the divine power knows what to do for each one. Across the board, nobody is spared trials; sooner or later they emerge, revealing one's smallness before the Eternal. They are necessary, as each person's true personality is revealed when confronted with them. A spiritual process is a valuable help in the face of adversity.

While running this obedient pencil on paper, you are granted the subtle energy which delights your heart. Thus the ritual is performed in which we can express ourselves through you in our own way, according to the current time and your inner disposition.

Blessed are you as well as those who read us and are strengthened before the Eternal.
