Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Friday, August 19, 2011 – 10:00 a.m.

Beautiful souls from near and far abound around you; in this realm distances do not matter. This union of hearts, operating beyond matter, is subtle and governed by laws that are unknown here below.

This subtlety emanates from divine grace. It belongs to the past and the present and it prepares the future. Indeed, an incarnation has already laid the foundation for the next one, with regard to the conditions necessary for one's evolution, for carrying forward what had been acquired, and for the opportunity that will be offered in a completely different context.

Souls who are predestined to move forward progress in this way, guided primarily by love. Is it not the best asset, the unique energy that reveals the being in all its subtlety?

Blessed souls, dedicated to our Mission – there are many of them capable of making themselves available to serve the Masters and a spiritual ideal in line with the current times, wherein the future is being prepared. May the incarnate Master continue until the end to manage, as he has been doing so magnificently, the Mission of today – a luminous star of the future.
