Friday, September 30, 2011 – 10:00 a.m.

Here our journey continues in a register befitting the aspirations of a loving heart. These writings will touch many beings. Their impact is even felt beyond our worldly Mission, as you already know. What is good for the human being reverberates far beyond the individual; isn't it heartening to note this!

The union of souls does not set any limits for itself; whatever contributes to their elevation is welcome and even sought after. That which surprises you now will amaze some of our readers, but that is the reality. Humans have a lot yet to discover. Future times will definitively open their eyes on topics that are still taboo today. It is time for this miracle to happen. The evolution of humanity will be achieved at any cost.
