Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Wednesday, October 12, 2011 – 10:00 a.m.

Love is a powerful and salutary force; it carries hearts to their noblest conquest, that of the Divine. Our abhyasis have started to become aware of this. Their approach is promising and brings them to the heart of bliss. They are all moving, at their respective paces, towards an ideal of peace and love. We are satisfied to see the effects over time. This action within our Mission is opening up a path into the future, allowing for a significant advance towards the Eternal. Each era in history illuminates people's minds in a way that is suitable to those times. This century is one of changes, changes that will be important at all levels. Humans will define themselves more correctly in relation to their quest for the Divine. They will at last understand the need to truly advance and rise to the higher reality.

This challenge may seem impossible, yet an increasing number of hearts will require a genuine process capable of leading them to a suitable destination. We are working towards this. May they all understand the purpose of things.
