Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Monday, October 24, 2011 – 10:00 a.m.

This celestial manna is a unique gift; the future will grant these messages increasing attention. Our comments may seem trivial and repetitive, but such an interpretation would indicate an insufficient openness of heart, a lack of spiritual maturity.

True mystics see deeply into things. The truth is revealed to them, not through the intellect but through a longing of the soul to awaken to the divine splendour. This thirst sharpens their perceptions, motivating their search and embellishing their spiritual universe.

What is a person without the call of the Divine within, and what does he or she become without it? One sometimes wanders on risky and disappointing paths, not finding one's true purpose, a deep motivation to love, beyond materiality. Each person has their own quest, their own personal development. May profound peace and true joy carry all of our aspirants to the highest level of realisation; this is our wish for all.
