Wednesday, November 2, 2011 – 10:00 a.m.

The Medium: Why is the world like this, Babuji? So much hatred, suffering and misunderstanding continue to occur over the course of time. Nothing changes, so it seems. Are humans doomed forever to this way of life?

Humans are not the only ones suffering. Just look around you, all that live in this world are subject to the same laws. There is no explaining it. Everyone must live what is, doing their best in order to go towards perfection, the ultimate goal of evolution in this world and beyond.

To be in a state of acceptance of these laws is a valuable benefit and reveals a greatness of soul predisposing one to the best – which is to say, to bliss. Acceptance and love are the greatest assets.

Babuji