Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Displaying the photograph of our beloved Parthasarathi, alongside ours in an ashram, can only make us rejoice. Isn't he the shining star of this Sahaj Marg Mission, and hasn't he been so for a long time! He devotes his strength, life and great skills to it in many respects. Would we have had that strength? On the human level, one must be up to the task, since the Mission has grown to such proportions. His successor will also have to face a growing expansion. He would be well advised to ensure that he surrounds himself with strong people who are talented and, above all, sincere towards him and the united Masters.

Celebrating our great son, as is proper, is as much a duty as an act of love. This notion should be deepened in our way. Love at this level is a rare energy; it alone can change the world. Our great son is and will remain an iconic image in our Mission. Each of the Masters will leave his mark on it, according to his personality on the material and spiritual planes.

Every era has its own requirements; the Masters must conform to it and, in due time, are given the necessary means. The impact of Sahaj Marg is growing, and this is irreversible. Blessed are those who serve it with fervour and utter selflessness.

Blessed – beyond words – is our beloved son. He is preparing his successor with a faith and steadfastness that delights all of us here. We thank him for that and surround him with the best of our combined forces and a love beyond words, whose effects only his spiritual heart can receive. We are with him in everything and wherever his divine person leaves his footsteps in this world. He will be revered in the future in a way he cannot imagine today; even so, his renowned figure will be known here below and it will illuminate ours 'by his side'.

This is the last word in this matter of displaying our portraits in the ashrams. This is done to honour us, and it fully satisfies us. Blessed are those who revere them, thus showing us their dedication and love.
