Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Saturday, January 7, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

At the dawn of a new era, our way can express itself in this manner. It has already touched many hearts and this is just beginning. Only love of this level can bring about significant transformations. Violence and hatred, as they currently exist, are elements endangering a humanity that is at a loss in so many respects. However, the path followed by many beautiful souls gives hope for the positive transformation of beings. Forces are gathering for that purpose. Humanity is on the road to ruin. We know what that means, and we are working in our own way to touch hearts capable of understanding the need for a major transformation. Blessed are the pure in heart; they shall see the light. Our work is geared towards that.

Blessings.
