Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Friday, January 20, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

Let people do or say what they may, these messages are an integral part of the Mission. Nothing and no one can change that. Their progress in people's hearts has long been planned; they will increasingly correspond to the spirit of the future. They will bring moral solace to humankind as it faces the many challenges that lie ahead. Their simplicity and spiritual impact touch the deepest part of a being. We have not created a literary work, as some intellectuals have pointed out; such is not our goal. These squabbles are not worthy of our aspirants, regardless of their role in the Mission. Their Master chose to make the messages known to the largest number of people, and they are valued by many of our brothers and sisters.

Those who are resistant to them display a lack of open-mindedness and, above all, a lack of trust in their Master and respect for human beings who are following a spiritual path such as ours. May all our aspirants one day overcome such reactions for their own good and for the cohesion of such a far-reaching spiritual movement – one that is doing everything possible to give them access to the best.

Human beings are not simple and guiding them often proves difficult; this is unfortunate. There is no time to waste. May all our brothers and sisters exhibit enough spiritual maturity to respect their Master's choices. He provides them with guidance in keeping with what is necessary for their own good. Again we thank our dear son for his courage and clear-sightedness regarding this phenomenon that is such a heavenly manna. He has made it known in various ways, using different approaches, under our ceaseless blessings and the love of us all.
