Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Saturday, February 4, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

Just relax. See only the beautiful, the unique, the divine greatness and its multiple achievements, the conquest of the Spirit and the benefits these things provide to you and all those who are advancing towards this Splendour. Nothing is easy. The path has twists and turns, testing in more than one way, but doesn't it bring joy, ecstatic moments, when the being is totally committed in this approach?

How to motivate the seeker as much as possible? We propose various ways for this, including these special readings, deemed trivial by some people, but enriching to those who are open to true wisdom. Only the heart can grasp their benefits. Isn't it the seat of the soul? The heart perceives that which is beyond the visible.

These messages will increasingly be valued for their true worth and widely disseminated. The day 'high tech' no longer exists, only writings of this kind will be preserved and valued by all, including those who overlooked them before.

Such is life. It holds many changes; this should be considered.

Writing, since its inception, has long enabled people to bequeath to posterity the essential teachings. The means used here for this will leave their mark over time, unlike those that overwhelm humanity today.

May all be careful on this point. We have already said it, but we have not been heard. Human beings do as they please: they believe they are strong, untouchable. But time, the destiny of the world, and their own destinies inevitably catch up with them. May we make ourselves heard, particularly with regard to the archives, which hold the memory of these sacred texts for the good of all. It is up to them to act accordingly, as we have already said.
