Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

allelujah, we might say, for having this great opportunity. Communicating in this way is not yet common in this era; no matter what those who are most open to this higher reality might think, obscurantism still prevails here below. The time will come when these means of communication with the higher powers will become more widespread and provide human beings with true values, ones to which they should refer at all times.

Access to knowledge is not trivial; it is an invaluable privilege. Through these messages we open doors. Blessed are those who follow us with gratitude and a fervour worthy of granting them the best. God's ways are unfathomable. Blessed are the pure in heart who are grateful to be able to enjoy a teaching that is uncommon and enlightening for our fervent abhyasis. Blissful are they, under our blessings.
