Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Saturday, February 25, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

When love, peace and tolerance reign on Earth, very great strides will be made. Why is humanity characterised by so much hatred, violence and misunderstanding? Will it ever change? How many upheavals and tragedies will it take for a better world – if not a perfect one – to eventually emerge on Earth? The fate of the Earth may change; it is not fixed forever. Its ascension can occur and lead it to a completely different state, one capable of raising today's human beings to a more acceptable status. For this, centuries of grossness need to be cleared off. It is a significant 'therapy'. The divine laws are inflexible; grace alone can make them less harsh in the face of the incredible perversion existing here below.

What is good also manifests itself; many souls are on their way and are working for the transformation of this world of matter. Let time do its work; love can accomplish such great things. Everything is possible in this regard. So have trust and perseverance in that which is good, under our ceaseless blessings.
