Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Monday, March 5, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

It seems that this day is eagerly awaited. Your heart is happily longing for this sitting. In such moments, our hearts merge and express themselves in their own way. Then it is as if time were suspended. Love and love alone can make its power of action prevail in such circumstances. Isn't it the most powerful in this domain? Our way holds surprises, and sometimes by divine will, one who wishes or believes herself to be behind the scenes ends up being propelled to the forefront. The divine plans sometimes disconcert human beings, even in the case of major events meant for the good of humanity. The purity of heart and intent remains crucial in those moments when grace is manifested in this way. Blessed are the pure in heart. This truth is essential and appreciable in a spiritual journey where self-interest and power are unwelcome when they conceal purely human intentions. May our way access the best, far from the deceitfulness that exists in this world.
