Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Monday, March 19, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

This day of the week has become a special way station in your life; our hearts are united in this special sitting where they are called by your love. Your role is unique in our Mission. What you are accomplishing in this context is not common, though many people claim they are doing the same; we chose you for a reason. Apart from your ability to channel, other criteria exist; we will not elaborate here on what makes your case so very special. You fully meet our expectations. You are the spiritual mother of this ashram, and the aura of these messages will forever remain your hallmark in this unique place. In the future, this facility will be recognised for its true value. Its potential is already significant. It has yet to grow, to manifest itself at the spiritual level, and to ensure that these messages are no longer overlooked. What must be will be. Be at peace, dear messenger precious to our hearts. Get ready to receive us differently through this special Monday contact. Grace continues to manifest therein, and we are happy about this. May the best be accomplished on this rather special day. Be assured that you have all our love.
