Whispers from The Brighter World
A Sixth Revelation

Monday, April 9, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

This day of the week is not ordinary; it now marks a new stage in the course of your life.

We meet in this kind of 'council' that is adapted to the situation; it is evidence of what we are feeling about this 'matter' of messages in which you are the very special pencil. Vested with our energies, it gives the best of its potential. Her mission lay there, exactly where she is – that is to say, associated with this wonderful story that has been written. That is how it was wished for by the higher authorities. You fulfil your mission perfectly, my daughter; this is worth emphasising here once again.

In the future, a more rigorous organisational structure will be required; it cannot be otherwise. However devoted they are, humans need solid structures in order to be committed to the highest degree. Being too lax is not constructive. The Mission will have a growing demand for reliable functionaries who are determined to act for the good and, most importantly, able to comply with higher decisions. Many of them do not do that, questioning major decisions made with full conscience by the chosen Master. Nothing happens without a reason; it is up to them to understand this and abide by these decisions. Otherwise, what are they doing in their position? Is it the right one? That is the question. It is up to them to see, and up to us to act, if such is not the case.
