Sunday, July 4, 1999 - 10:00 a.m.

Peace and tranquillity don't exist in this world; overcome this shock, my daughter, you have to. This morning, you don't have the good fortune to witness this meditation, but, in this very moment, he is at work, he is perfect. Rejoice on this aspect. He has started a process, which will lead him far, and you will have helped him to soar. The Master is present as he usually is with the beginners, but all is well, he is satisfied. You were not mistaken in seeing in him a noble soul; it will become a jewel.

"Try, at least today, to forget your worries and to live this event, which touches you in the depth of your being. The bond between your souls is strong and indestructible.

"Meditate with him now; your two hearts are in unison, bathed in our love. Do you feel this vibration in you? He will go far, this boy; he belongs to the chosen ones. You are not alone. Spend this day as best you can, we bless you."

Babuji