My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, August 3, 2012 — 10:00 a.m.

Think beauty and harmony only, that which delights your soul. Forget everything else and plunge inside yourself into this sacred refuge where all sufferings are abolished. Humans are sometimes disappointing; everyone carries the burden they deserve in this incarnation — this cannot be circumvented. A spiritual being finds strength and courage within to face up to things; they have that critical recourse. The way of the heart provides the privilege of accepting trials to some extent. It allows a self-transcendence which is very useful in many circumstances.

"Life is not simple for our brothers and sisters or any other human being, otherwise where would the challenge lie? Understanding the reality of life in this world as well as its importance is in itself a form of wisdom. How many lives does it take to really understand the purpose of things? Each person advances in their own way despite the many problems that arise.

"Open one's heart against all odds and only aspire to inner beauty, that which fosters the expansion of the soul towards the heavenly fields ... This speech is meant to try to soothe a fervent heart, which, like all human beings, is currently grappling with the vagaries of life. May all our brothers and sisters find strength and courage here and advance towards the goal, in the peace of a heart surrendered and determined to overcome whatever happens."

Babuji Maharaj