Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, August 4, 2012 — 10:00 a.m.

Days are passing by and events are unfolding. These are sometimes surprising when they bring about changes to already established plans. As for that which touches on the spiritual, the divine ways prevail, more so than in any other area.

Our Mission, whatever may happen in various domains, will carry on with the support of higher powers. Our faithful candidates will be able to follow the star, that which will definitively mark their Earthly journey. Blessed are those who understand the importance of such a journey; they are saving valuable time. So many deviations are possible and mislead humans into useless approaches that take them away from the goal. We do not mean in any way to be lecturing. We can see the evidence, and we try to warn our abhyasis and enlighten them if necessary. Life is not easy on this Earth, where no one is spared. Each person follows his or her path — under what conditions? Nothing is simple, and above all, nothing is easy to understand, especially when striking events punctuate the course of days. Taking refuge within oneself in the face of ordeals is a commendable recourse. Following a spiritual path helps humans to better manage their karma, the ups and downs of which are often disconcerting to them.

May all beings understand, as a wise man once said: "Only spirituality can save the world." Blessings to all.
