My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, August 18, 2012 — 10:00 a.m.

Our beloved son, your Master, should be spared all major worries. He has been working for so many years for this great and beautiful Sahaj Marg Mission. Now, more than ever, respect is essential. Let's repeat again: he is doing what is essential. We therefore expect the understanding and unity of all in a fervour of love towards this great Being.

"Our spiritual path is and will remain over time a valuable asset for human beings. Their evolution on this plane must continue and align itself more and more with what it will be in the future for a large number of chosen ones. We are working to this effect; that change must be brought about here below on all fronts, including the spiritual level. Another dimension of consciousness will establish itself and will enable a breakthrough for people willing to adapt. An auspicious way like ours enables our aspirants to adequately prepare themselves. We hope they will all be truly committed and leave aside differences inherent in mankind.

"We expect our brothers and sisters to do their best for the advancement of each one of them. Isn't it our goal in this spiritual way to help the greatest number, to uplift and unite people willing to follow us! In this regard, let us act together in the highest and noblest love, and all will be well for all."

Babuji Maharaj