My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, August 23, 2012 - 9:30 a.m.

Life eternally repeats itself; here we do the same. Every day, we manifest our presence through our attention towards our beloved son, your Master, and all of you who follow us on this promising path. It is encouraging to see our growing number of aspirants as well as the aura of this Mission that is so full of promise, in terms of its expansion and the possibilities it can generate. This union of hearts is bearing fruit beyond our expectations. Times are changing; many men and women feel within them the growing need to be united with the Divine. Our way is suitable for the greatest number and, by means of this essential process, they adhere to the spiritual development of their being. Future times are in the making; another dimension of consciousness will open up to humans through many changes. There lies the right choice for our aspirants; in this way most of them find here what they need within the framework of a planned evolution. In their own way, these messages contribute to it and they are given accordingly. Doesn't everything have its raison d'être here on Earth and elsewhere?

"May all our brothers and sisters accept this principle: we act for the good of all, such is the goal. We are watching over them and helping them more than they believe; only the result matters. Our blessings carry them constantly."

Babuji Maharaj