Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, August 26, 2012 — 10:00 a.m.

Relax; open your heart to the grace that carries it in these moments. This opening ritual leads you to a space of beauty and peace, then the serenity necessary for this contact ensues. This day is conducive to meditation; many of our brothers and sisters take advantage of this time off to devote themselves to their practice. The hectic life of the present time is not conducive to a contemplative life.

"Spiritual commitment does not preclude everything else; a way like ours requires organising oneself accordingly, and especially having the inner attitude consistent with this process. The objectives here are to keep this space inside oneself where love can express itself and produce the best, and to ensure that it remains active. Opening one's heart more and more to the time when grace yields its results is a real success in this troubled world. The true mystic is able to put things into perspective and to keep, come what may, that which is precious to them: the perfect union with the inner Master connected to the living Master. That is the goal to be reached; the result leads to a state of joy and inner peace. Our brothers and sisters who are fully committed understand these comments; every day they live a state so important to them in this incarnation. Such an asset has become essential to their lives; it opens up to them delightful prospects for the present and future times.

"May all our aspirants unite more and more with the Divine under the higher guidance of their incarnate Master, and of all of us here who are attentive to this very important Mission in these times when many human beings are straying.

"Blessings."
