Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, September 10, 2012 — 10:00 a.m.

Imagine the progress these thousands of messages have made, and will make, in people's hearts. They have acted almost without the knowledge of our abhyasis, shall we say. The action of these messages is aimed at a noble goal, that of the abhyasis' spiritual elevation. Nothing is to be overlooked in such a matter; an approach of this kind must go forward. The way of the heart offers multiple resources; it is up to each one to make the best use of them and to fully benefit from an age-old asset.

Isn't this the purpose of an incarnation, in terms of its highest goals — to conquer this sacred space where the marvels of the Spirit are accomplished when a soul fervently calls for the wonder of wonders? What is more exalting here below, and especially more lasting and more edifying, than this conquest of the heart in all its subtleties. These subtleties are well hidden from the eyes of human beings — who can truly evaluate them! This treasure is in no way commensurate with any Earthly goods, which are measured according to human assessment. Anything here below can be destroyed in an instant; the beauty of a soul cannot perish in such a manner. This world of illusion leads beings into unspeakable torments. Blessed are the hearts that are committed, and detached as needed from the attributes of materiality. It is very well proven that even shrewd business people can embark on the noblest possible path in order to get to the heart of an unparalleled enterprise — that which opens the gates of nirvana, where serene truth can be attained. We wish this heavenly outcome to each of our aspirants, under our special blessings.
