Wednesday, July 7, 1999 - 10:00 a.m.

We are not monstrously indifferent to men's miseries, in spite of the comments we make in certain circumstances to make you understand the reason for things happening. This suffering body puts you in a difficult situation to manage your daily life. We help you to find a satisfactory solution. We see your struggles. You would need a safe and quiet environment around you: somebody on whom you can count. In a few days, we will have a clearer picture. We, who can see with proper hindsight what you have to go through, we do not always react as you would wish us to do. Our comments can seem harsh to you sometimes and yet that is not what you imagine."

The Medium: "The channel is scrambled, Babuji, I am not able to concentrate."

"We understand, calm down. Try to overcome this series of shocks. Immerse yourself into our love."

Babuji