Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, October 7, 2012 — 10:00 a.m.

Can you imagine the progress being made here with these messages? Their impact on people's hearts is growing day by day, one might say. Such are the divine laws; they operate when the time is right and nothing can stop their action. We have, through this special communication, a way of touching hearts differently. People who are open-minded take full advantage of it; they understand the importance of this teaching and nourish themselves in full awareness of its uniqueness. We cannot force anything; we are happy to note the benefits it brings to all our aspirants who fully adhere to this principle. Here, the greatness of a Master can be assessed by — among other things — the fact that he considers this contribution to be of prime importance, thus giving this essential aspect to our teaching.

Doesn't everything have its raison d'être? Do our aspirants realise that they are advancing on a path whose teachings are unprecedented in the modern history of the world? It is in keeping with what the world will become in the future, when the evolution of humankind will have completely changed people's way of looking at life, with a spiritual process indispensable to their evolution. Everything is being put into place accordingly. Blessed are those who aspire to the Divine and who are working towards this achievement — the culmination of any spiritual journey. The deeper meaning of an incarnation is revealed to fervent hearts that are dedicated to this quest — one that is capable of giving them access to the best of their being. The road is long and difficult, but the prospects are such as to deserve sustained effort. The light is at the end of the road, and it is accessible to all those who are fervently seeking. This is the way it is.
