Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, October 18, 2012 — 10:00 a.m.

These very special rendezvous have become reference marks in our Mission as they demonstrate, through these comments, the manifestation of divine power. All high-level Masters are custodians of that power; in addition, at the material level, the incarnate Master can operate in a different and more precise manner. Everything must be set firmly in our Mission, as today's world requires other methods: a more decisive action on the material plane in this century of transformation. The human being has demands that he did not have in previous centuries. People's minds are opening up, not always in the right direction, but hearts that are touched by grace are making their way to the kingdom of light. We offer the means to today's humans to facilitate their access to it. This thirst for the Divine appears differently in certain beings; it literally glows in them and propels them towards our hearts.

"This 'enterprise' is sizeable; there lies the greatest challenge for human beings. When they become aware of it and act accordingly, a pathway opens up before them and we make it even more accessible to them by adorning this process in our own manner.

"Blessed are the hearts that are committed, sincere and determined to conquer this world of the sovereign Spirit, where opportunities are great and the path is made easier according to the seeker's disposition. Love begets love; thus is the law and nothing can change it. Blessed are those who carry that torch."
