Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, October 27, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

Nothing can affect this space reserved within you, except for divine grace when a fervent call arises. Be delighted, dear soul who is united not only with the Divine, but also with all those brothers and sisters who are proceeding towards the same goal. This way of love has favourable implications; it haloes the brows of our fervent abhyasis. Many of them are opening up to this higher reality; they realise their true potential and they engage more deeply in this sublime quest, one that prepares them for a hereafter that is conducive to a delightful continuation. Certain conversions – in our way, as elsewhere – result in situations often hidden from the eyes of humans, but they provide renewed faith and fervour to some sensitive beings who are destined for this exhilarating journey. Apart from this commitment, this progress in the discovery of personal transformation, what more can be done to satisfy a fervent heart? It finds its way, its raison d'être, and the gateway to the Immutable Peace.

Blessed are those committed beings, invested in the service where faith carries them, enabling them to give back – according to their capabilities – whatever is unique and promising that they have gathered on their path. Each one receives according to his or her ability to receive, to capture what is essential and promising for the rest of the journey. This journey can be short or long, but it is always adapted to the needs of an incarnation in this vast and divine framework where every being shapes themselves according to this higher reality and advances at their own pace; this is how it is.

Babuji