Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, October 31, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

Recharge yourself in this oasis of peace and love; here, all is forgotten except what is essential. You are listening to us and we are listening to you. A soul that is offered becomes imbued with divine fragrances and exists truly in those moments of complete communion. These writings benefit from this special energy perceived and valued by sensitive hearts. The delight of the soul is fed by this energy that exalts it to love more and more as it is carried away by this celestial current of a thousand facets. To love in this way is a tremendous gift. The intellect is forgotten, and only that subtle energy surfaces, that which enchants the whole being. How to describe it? Only that which is felt leads to bliss.

Far from the world and its noise, the peace of the soul is a magnificent gift offered to the seeker who is fully committed with complete confidence. Love and surrender are the surest guides; they make a seeker grow and lead him or her to the shores of bliss. A true spiritual journey leads to this unparalleled state. We are insisting a great deal on this, but how can we do otherwise? Isn't the goal to achieve the best of the being through an action of this kind? The quest for the Divine is the noblest and the most beautiful one there is; it adorns the seeker with a myriad of lights and lifts him or her up to our united hearts. How can we touch the hearts of our aspirants? It is the purpose of these comments; the delight of the soul is the result of a sincere and steadfast process aimed at attaining the Immutable Peace. When this goal is achieved, the human being can rejoice; he or she has reached an exalted level of consciousness that bears the finest fruits, those of a pure and eternal passion that accompanies the devoted seeker.

To all, the best, and total success.
