Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, November 1, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

These many pages are the fruit of love. Their number is unprecedented in this field; this is worth emphasising here. Without this very special link, and the commitment of a heart totally offered to this particular mission in the service of the Sahaj Marg Masters, nothing would be the same. Everyone in our Mission has a role to play. Being a fully devoted and fervent abhyasi, even without any additional involvement, already constitutes an important role. Union creates strength, and it brings about fervour in beings who are willing to engage in this process, one that is essential to their elevation. All our brothers and sisters are equal. We know the intentions of each one: all are contributing according to their capabilities. The fervour of a burning heart is a bright point of light in the firmament of the 'Sahaj Marg way'.

Fervent love creates a redeeming energy. It forms a meaningful whole within this beautiful spiritual Mission that is enlightening today's world – a world plagued by such negativity as has never been seen before. All must change, and it will change; this is inevitable, as this world is nearing a state of extreme excess of every sort.

Each one should re-examine themselves, review what their life has been so far and judiciously take stock in order to draw the necessary conclusions. Nothing is lost; everything can change in the right direction. We do not mean to be sanctimonious here; we are trying to help our brothers and sisters in every possible manner. All have satisfactory potentials, as evidenced by their commitment to this way. We want the best: the successful completion of such a process for each one of them. One day, the divine goal will be achieved. This is how it is.
