My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, November 4, 2012 — 10:00 a.m.

Enter into the silence of the heart where everything calms down, where the soul can breathe out its fragrances. Forget this world and its vicissitudes; don't you have this sacred refuge inside you where you aspire to meet with us! ... These words prompt you to meditate and listen to our united hearts. The united Masters are sensitive to everything concerning the Sahaj Marg Mission; they are all monitoring the progress of this spiritual way in the hearts that are devoted and touched by grace. The importance of this Mission is growing; its impact is becoming clearer and changing many who were not initially predisposed to such an approach.

"Youth are joining the elders on this journey towards the Eternal. Despite their tender years, they understand the need to move forward in an effective way, away from all prejudices of race and social classes. Only the goal matters here, seeing what others do not see. They are committed to such a practice that does them a world of good, even if it is not always easy to put things into perspective. Blessed are the beings guided by love, one that elevates the soul to its highest destiny. Understanding this reality, coming nearer and nearer to it, and committing to that process for good — all this changes the heart of the abhyasi. He can foresee the reign of peace and harmony that will keep evil away, thus the state of jubilation is great. Whatever the age of the aspirant, there is no limit to what we can hope for; the call of the heart is paramount in this matter. Surrendering to the Master, to the Divine and to the sovereign power capable of elevating a being to his highest destiny is the fairest and noblest purpose possible. Everything passes; everything changes in this world. What endures is only this noble advancement towards the ultimate peace under our endless blessings."

Babuji Maharaj